hance to see

Danny's not eating, he's drinking and sleeping in
I saw him last night at a party, he's definitely thin
He says he's happy, he looked pretty good but I think That as the sun rises on Mary, it sets on him
Just dance, just drink and just see the things I probably never get the chance to say

Danny came over last night and I cooked for him

We talked about you Mary and how much we loved you still

He told me he's packed up your books and your letters and things

And as the sun sets on Mary, it's rising on him

And we danced and we drank and I've seen some things you probably never got the chance to see

Don't worry, Mary cos I'm taking care of Danny

And he's taking care of me
